Resource Guide

This directory compiled by: Alameda County Health Care Services Agency; Public Health Department; Family Health Services Division; Developmental Disabilities Planning and Advisory Council

The listing of programs in this directory does not imply any recommendation from the Alameda County Developmental Disabilities Council or the Public Health Department of Alameda County. They are listed here as a public service.

Special thanks to the members of the Alameda County Interagency Transition Planning Team who spent many hours gathering program information to assist in the completion of this document.

Transition Tips & Supplemental Information

Review Areas of Assessment and Planning for Transition to Adulthood

1. Activities of Daily Living:

What self-care skills (such as for personal hygiene and dressing) does the young person have? What might be learned? What supports and resources are available? What housekeeping skills does the young person have for meal planning, shopping and cooking; keeping the living quarters clean and maintained; cleaning and maintaining clothing; and dealing with emergencies? For what activities does the person need help during the day? What resources are available to provide this help and how might they be funded? Does the young person have a concept of time and possess good time management skills?

2. Mobility:

What ability does the person have to walk or roll within all parts of buildings used for daily activities and between buildings? Are buildings that the person wishes to enter for education, employment, recreation and medical appointments accessible? What adaptations might reasonably be made?

3. Transportation:

What abilities does the person have to access public transportation, special transportation services, or other transportation options in the community? Is the person able to access and complete driver's education to become a licensed driver? What vehicle adaptations would be required? What adaptation services are available in the person's community? How can they be funded? How can mobility training services be accessed?

4. Living Arrangements:

Where does the young person wish to live – apartment, house, dorm, city, country? With who will the young person live -- family, friends, independently, supported living? What are the options in the young person's community? What is needed to live more independently -- housekeeping skills, mobility, personal assistance and money management skills? Is help available to learn these skills? What are the effects of decisions about living arrangements on the family?

5. Health Care:

What does the young person know about his or her disabilities and medical conditions? Can they recognize signs and symptoms of medical emergencies? Do they know their insurance information and carry their insurance card? What skills does he or she have and/or need to learn to monitor physical and/or psychological conditions?

Does he or she participate in therapies and administer and order own medications with knowledge of regimen and side effects? Does the person know how to communicate with health care providers? What supports would assist the person to do these things, such as educational programs, assistive technology, equipment, supplies, therapies, personal attendants, public health nursing and/or home nursing assistance? Where are these available, and how can they be funded?

What is the person's source of primary care for general health monitoring and education such as normal development, immunizations, exercise, substance use and abuse, risk taking behaviors and safety issues, and sexuality education and supports? Does the person receive regular dental care? What specialty medical care is available from pediatric and adult health care providers knowledgeable or willing to learn about the particular problems? What planning is in process for transition from pediatric primary and specialty care providers to adult health care providers? What options are available in the community? What funding is available?

6. Housing:

What adaptations such as ramps, railings, wider doorways, bathroom configuration, kitchen adaptations are needed to support independence? What home maintenance skills does the person have or can learn and what help is available?

7. Recreation and Leisure:

What does the person like to do for fun and exercise? What skills does he or she have? What is available in the community for sports, shopping, watching or viewing, visiting? What things would the person like to learn to do and what might be available in the community to assist in learning?

8. Personal Awareness and Companionship:

How aware is the person of how he or she interacts with others and the impact their behavior may have on others? How is anger expressed? How does he or she mediate conflict? How does he or she solve problems and make decisions? Does the person have friends? Is he or she dating and sexually active? Is the person optimistic and how can a more optimistic attitude be developed? In what attributes or skills does the person express confidence? What seems to be motivating factors? Is the person organized? Does he or she keep appointments? Does he or she have a sense of humor? What skills in personal advocacy does the young person have? What resources are available to build skills in personal awareness? Who are the person's role models, and where might role models with similar disabilities be found?

9. Education:

Will the young person complete high school or receive an equivalency? What are barriers to completing high school, and what services are available? What kind of career would the person like to pursue? What skills and educational programs are required for that career? Does the person have enough education for the job desired? What college or technical school opportunities are available? Are there Adult Education or continuing education options available? What accommodations would be needed to attend school? What financial aid is available? What do the ADA laws mean in terms of education, jobs, and accommodations?

10. Community Participation:

What is the person currently doing and what does the person like to do? What options are available in the community and which of these appeal to the person – clubs, organizations, cultural activities, etc.? What social interaction opportunities are available? What opportunities for volunteer service are available to both give service and develop skills? Are there activities at a community church or synagogue for spiritual, educational, and service participation? How aware is the person of community activities and resources, politics, and current events?

11. Employment and Job Supports:

What types of home or community jobs has the young person had to contribute to household, family, and community life? What skills does the person have? What does he or she like to do? What kind of environment does he or she want to work in? What types of training programs is the young person interested in attending? What places of employment might fit the person's choices? What places of employment and training programs are available in the person's community? Are there summer jobs, part time jobs, in-school jobs, non-paid training experiences or internships available? Are there job supports or job shadowing experiences available?

12. Financial Management:

What are sources of income for this person? What skills in budgeting, comparison shopping, bill paying, use of checking and savings accounts and credit cards does the person have? What can be learned? What supports are needed, are they available, and how does the person access them? Is the person eligible and is there access to financial aid programs? Does he or she understand their benefits or have someone to manage their benefits for them?

13. Legal Issues:

What would happen in case of parental/caregiver disability or death? What arrangements have been made for guardianship and estate management if person is not able to achieve adult independence?

Description The Ala Costa Adult Community Training (ACT)/ Ala Costa Adult Transition (ACAT) Program's design is based on a Community Based Instruction model in which instruction and activities are immersed as much as possible in the community at a consumer to staffing ratio of 3:1. ACT focuses on self determination skills, vocational skills, living skills and community integration. The ACT program empowers consumers through a process of measurable, evidence based instruction immersed with community based experiences which provide opportunities for individuals to practice skills, gain experience, build self-esteem and self-efficacy. ACT is a person-centered program guided by consumer choices and interests. ACT provides a safe space where consumers engage in new experiences with confidence and success as they work to find their place in the world. For more information: www.alacosta-acat.org

BACS Adult Day Care Services serves adults age 60 and over in the Tri-Cities area who are experiencing chronic health problems (including Alzheimer's Disease). The help and support provided by the program enables these seniors to continue living in their own homes, avoiding premature institutionalization. It also provides respite for family members and caregivers, allowing them to attend to their daily affairs assured that their loved ones are receiving reliable care.

The Day Care program provides the following services:

- A structured program of activities led by trained staff, both paid and volunteer.
- Door-to-door transportation for all clients who are residents of the Tri-Cities.
- A hot, nutritionally-balanced meal.
- Ongoing respite and support for caregivers & family members.
- Daily program leadership provided by Adult Education teachers and staff.
- Client referrals to other community agencies as needed.

BACS Adult Day Care Services program is designed to enable older adults with chronic health problems, including Alzheimer's Disease, to remain in their homes and avoid premature institutionalization. It is licensed by the State of California Department of Social Services. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday we concentrate on the needs of clients with memory loss due to stroke, dementia or Alzheimer's Disease. On Tuesday and Thursday we have a program for physically frail individuals who need a supportive environment for socializing and engaging in meaningful activities. Some clients can fit into both programs and attend five days a week. The program also helps caregivers, who know that their family members are in a safe environment that will keep them involved and stimulated. This gives caregivers time for work, rest and meeting personal needs. We provide information and assistance accessing programs and services that can help them.

Open Monday to Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., we offer a program of activities led by an Oakland Adult School teacher assisted by trained staff. Transportation, snacks and a nutritionally balanced lunch are all provided daily. This is a fee-for-service program. The fee is reasonable and we offer scholarship assistance.

Frail Elderly have a safe place to socialize.
Description	Established in 1990, the Berkeley Adult Day Health Center provides a comprehensive outpatient program, offering health, rehabilitative and social services for frail and/or disabled adults 18 and older. It is a satellite program of the West Oakland Health Council, Inc. The center is a vendor for RCEB consumers. The Center's professional and caring staff encourage maximum independence and group interaction in a supportive environment. Program services include: limited rehabilitative and restorative therapies, nursing care, nutritional services, social services, recreational activities, occupational and physical therapy maintenance programs, and psychotherapeutic services. Participants often express how appreciative they are of the care they receive, and their families are thankful for the respite the program offers them, allowing them to attend to their other responsibilities but still allowing their loved one to live independently at home, rather than going into a nursing home.

Description	CCS owns and operates the Homes at Niles Grove, a new three home site on a 2 acre wooded cul-de-sac in the Niles District of Fremont. CCS was formed and facility construction was sponsored by parents who wanted a stimulating and family style environment for their children. Several of the founding families still participate on the Board of Directors that oversee the operation of the homes; the Board solicits parental and community participation. The Homes at Niles Grove provide a stable home setting for 18 adults with developmental disabilities. The deeds to the homes and property are restricted for use to programs serving persons with developmental disabilities. All homes are fully wheelchair accessible, provide private bathrooms for residents, and have central air-conditioning. We are vendorized by the Regional Center of the East Bay (RCEB) and are currently licensed for three different levels in our homes- a level 3, a level 4b, and a level 4I. Our program is designed to support our unique "aging in place" mission, so that residents do not have to move from their home at age 59. We also emphasize an active lifestyle involving participation in community events, local outings and in home events, etc.

Eligibility Over 18 years old, client of Regional Center. Program is in Contra Costa and Alameda County.

Payment Day Training & Activity Program vendorized by Regional Center. Supported Employment & Vocational Rehabilitation Programs funded through Dept of Rehabilitation & Regional Center.

Application In person. No referral required.

Target Pop Adults with developmental disabilities

Description Provides social and vocational training for adults in both a center-based and a community environment. Consumers learn paid work skills. Nifty Thrift Shop, operated by consumers, provides vocational training in a natural community setting. Community job sites utilized in preparation for Supported Employment. Supported Employment program provides job development, job placement and support for both individual and groups. Situational assessments and mobility training are also offered.

Futures Explored offers clubs, social gatherings, and overnight field trips for consumers who wish to take part. ALIVE provides physical support for adults who need personal care to be part of the community. Activities include social outings, volunteer work, support while attending college and mobility training.

Garden Site serves individuals with specialized health needs. The program is adjusted to maximize their personal benefit and includes sensory opportunities. Community involvement is a desired outcome, however, due to medical/health needs it is typically more limited.

Go Groups Livermore serves adults, typically 22 and older who have a developmental disability and who are interested in participating in a wide range of activities. We support individuals with personal care and eating, as needed. Participants should have socially acceptable behaviors and be able to follow directions due to our regular involvement in community activities.

ALIVE was created to improve the quality of life for our participants by providing individual support to adults with moderate to severe physical disabilities and sensory disabilities who want to access the full range of activities and services available in their community, regardless of what level of independence they are able to achieve. Participants range in abilities from people who are ambulatory and can speak clearly, to those who use wheelchairs and/or need assistive devices to communicate. We provide the tools to get answers, make connections and have choices. Contact person is Penny Musante, (925) 779-1039 (Antioch), (925) 825-0263 (Concord).

Through ALIVE, participants receive a variety of services and obtain instruction and personal assistance, which enables them to engage in activities of their own choosing. Services are provided 6 hours daily, 5 days a week, Monday through Friday.

Services from ALIVE include individual assessment of particular needs, skills, training, and provision of participant support, such as attendant care, which will enable the person with physical disabilities to gain access to community life.

Additional services: Site based services for medically fragile folks, Senior services and Community College support (CCTP).

Eligibility Developmental or other disabilities, for adults 20-90+, both ambulatory and non-ambulatory in Contra Costa, Alameda and Marin Counties. Clients must take care of their own toileting and medication needs.Payment Vendorized by Regional Center or private pay ($30 per day)Application The initial contact to NIAD may be made by phone, email, mail or in person, but a follow-up phone call of some length will take place to discuss the potential client's possible fit for the NIAD program.Target Pop Adults with disabilities who enjoy creating art or those who are open to exploring the creative process.Description NIAD provides a visual arts studio program for adults with developmental and other disabilities. Through printmaking, sculpture, ceramics, fiber arts, performance art, painting, drawing and digital-media art, our clients explore the creative process. The studio environment focuses on art creation while building the independent living skills of observation, concentration, decision-making, project management, co-operation, and the value of practice. Frequent trips to galleries, museums, and artists' studios supplement material presented at NIAD, while strengthening client confidence in interacting with the public. In warmer months, clients staff a NIAD booth at the local Farmers Market. NIAD artists and artwork are also promoted through our gallery, website, the local media and exhibits of NIAD art in Bay Area locales.

Clients earn money through their art sales and jobs as studio aides (sorting fabric, washing brushes, preparing workspaces, dusting the gallery etc.) All clients who wish a job are assigned one compatible with their interests and abilities. The NIAD garden provides client jobs and ingredients for twice-monthly client cooking classes, as well as a relaxing place for eating and recreation. Our weekly walks promote fitness and community involvement, as does delivering for Meals on Wheels.

Eligibility The individual must be found to lack capacity to manage their own affairs, either financial or activities of daily living or both. The client's need for conservatorship is based upon the client being "at risk" and will be determined by a trained Asst. Public Guardian-Conservator Social Worker.

Payment Once conserved, there are court ordered fees payable to the court, the Public Guardian or Public Defender. All fees are subject to the conservatee's ability to pay or if they have a financial estate to assist in the provision of their care and management.

Application Probate Conservatorships are referred from the community, hospitals, family members or neighbors. LPS Conservatorships are mandatory referrals from a locked psychiatric facility if the individual has been transported there under a 5150 hold by local law enforcement jurisdictions in Alameda County.

Target Pop Information Not Provided

Description Manages probate and Lanterman-Petris-Short (LPS mental health) conservatorships for Alameda County residents. Conservatorships are legal arrangements in which a court-appointed conservator oversees the personal care and/or financial matters of an individual who is incapable of managing alone. LPS conservatorships are used when an individual needs mental health treatment but can't or won't accept it voluntarily. The LPS conservator arranges placement and mental health treatment for conservatees who are unable to provide for their food, clothing, or shelter as a result of a mental disorder, and may also manage the estate. The Public Guardian-Conservator petitions Superior Court for Probate conservatorships (usually of person and estate) for people who have assets that cannot be managed outside of a conservatorship and who live in supervised settings (such as nursing homes and assisted living facilities). Referrals from community agencies are accepted, priority given to individuals who are subjected to financial abuse by others. Probate conservators identify, marshal, liquidate and manage all assets of each estate, setting up trust accounts from which payments for care and comfort are made. In Probate conservatorship of the person, the Public Guardian-Conservator is responsible for ensuring proper food, clothing, shelter, and health care.

Description There are three Social Security programs which pay benefits to persons who have disabilities:

Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI): Benefits are paid to a disabled worker or his/her family when the worker becomes so disabled that s/he is unable to work. The disabled worker must have worked in employment covered by Social Security.

Supplemental Security Income (SSI): Makes monthly payments to aged, disabled and blind people who have limited income and financial resources. This benefit is not just for adults. Children who are blind or disabled are also eligible depending on family income.

Social Security for Children: Benefits are paid to the child of a deceased, disabled or retired worker if the child is under 18 or between 18 - 19 and attending high school. Benefits are payable to a disabled child of a disabled retired or deceased worker at any age if the child's disability began before age 22.

The Social Security office is the general information source for Medicare benefits.

Description The State Council on Developmental Disabilities is established under both federal & state law, and has the responsibility to evaluate, plan and coordinate resources and service systems so as to protect and enhance the legal, civil and services rights of persons with developmental disabilities. The State Council funds innovative and creative community-based services, special demonstration projects, and or training that will meet unmet needs or help to change the system in the direction of increased independence, productivity, integration and inclusion of persons with developmental disabilities. In addition, the State Council funds the Area Boards on Developmental Disabilities which provide advocacy, do planning and needs assessment, and assist the Council in carrying out its objectives and mandates at the local level. While the Council carries out its responsibilities independent of any single state service agency, it works closest with those agencies which have primary responsibility for providing direct developmental services, including the Departments of Developmental Services, Rehabilitation and Education.

Group Placements: Individuals who have the appropriate behaviors, skills and motivation to work in the community with minimum supports.
Description	Community Employment Services is a program for individuals who are ready for the challenges of an independent and/or group work setting. Features a wide variety of jobs in the local community with ongoing job coaching for as long as the individual is working at no cost to the individual or company. Professional job developer matches the individual's strengths and preferences with the best placement. The client becomes a direct employee of the company, but Arc staff still works closely with the client through a Job Coordinator. Group placements has clients out in the community along with an Arc worker supervisor, who together, complete the work task at a given location or set of locations. The Arc provides support and training through all stages of the job process. Clients are typically travel trained to get the individual to the job site. Clients may opt to attend either the Vocational Development Center (VDC) or Alternative Venture Program (AVP) to keep up on the continuum of services, supports, friendships and programming, until there are community openings.

Description	California DB101 (www.db101.org) brings together rules for health coverage, benefit, and employment programs that people with disabilities use. These programs may be run by state, federal government, non-profit, or private organizations. Here we discuss them under one roof and in plain language. DB101 has online tools for you, local benefits planners and others you work with. We provide benefits planning calculators to use with all kinds of benefits planning strategies. DB101 calculators help with transitions to and from working while living with a disability. The mission of the World Institute on Disability (WID) in communities and nations worldwide is to eliminate barriers to full social integration and increase employment, economic security and health care for persons with disabilities. WID creates innovative programs and tools; conducts research, training, public education and advocacy campaigns; and provides technical assistance.
