

April 1, 2019

Good Morning Parents,

I hope everyone had a fantastic weekend. As we begin April, students will be reviewing the phonics learned in Unit Four of our reading program. We have practiced with two letter vowel teams that create long a, long o, long e, and long i sounds. Students will also review their sight words.

This week, we will continue to work on place value in math. Students are doing a great job applying their knowledge to activities and practice problems. Students are excited to continue working on our insect project. This week, they will partner with a classmate and begin designing their own insect. They are practicing their collaboration skills, writing skills, and applying their life science knowledge in very creative and exciting ways.

Class Donations: Thank you for the donations. They are a great help to the classroom.

Birthday Treats: We have several birthdays coming up in class. If your child would like to share treats with the class, we recommend small treats that are either not food (such as stickers or a pencil), or are a healthier food choice.

Important Dates:

Thursday, April 4th: Papa Murphy's Fundraising Night

Friday, April 5th: Multicultural Night, 6pm

April 15th-19th: Spring Break, No School

Have a wonderful week.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Sarkany
